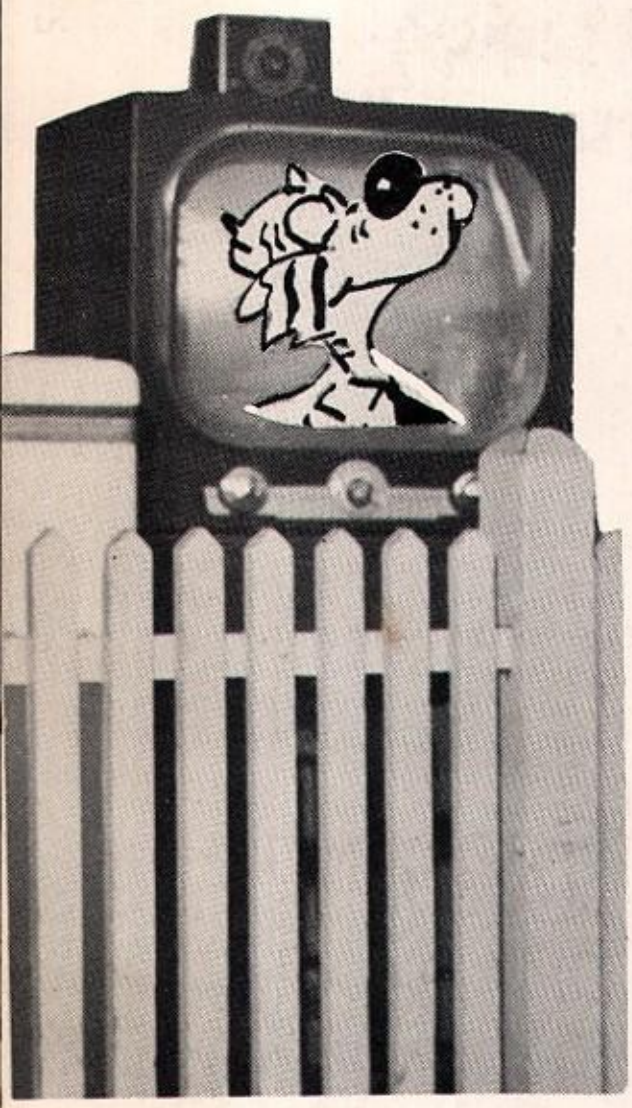
Foreword



Nevada High School gained national recognition by Superintendent C. H. Jones' article concerning the traditional Anti-Van party. Mr. Jones presented the money from his Saturday Evening Post article to the Youth Club for the purchase of a television set. We are proud of the accomplishments of Nevada High School, and our purpose is to record for you and "televise" our story of 1952-1953 at Nevada High School, that it may in future years give you many pleasant hours of reminiscing.

The Nevamo Staff

Dear Janet,
Best of success
to a wonderful girl
and a darned good
Economics student.
Lots of luck!
Mr. Carpenter

Janet I hope to be a very sweet girl whom I like very much.

Seniors

When the graduating class of 1953 entered high school, they elected these people as their class officers; Donald Cox, President; Bill Brown, Vice-President; Bob Holland, Secretary; and Janet Wray, Treasurer. Mrs. Stanley Butner served as the class sponsor. Early during this year the Freshman Class was awarded third place in the ticket sale for the Junior Class Play. W. Garland Keithly came into the Nevada school system during this year. Blair Elementary School burned, and its disappearance recalled many childhood memories for the Seniors of 1953. By the time the students became accustomed to the routine of school, May arrived and they became Sophomores.

Immediately after the beginning of the Sophomore school year they elected the following people as their class officers: Bill Snyder, President; Bruce Smith, Vice-President; Janet Elmore, Secretary; and Ron Dahmer, Treasurer. Mrs. Gene Rimmer served as sponsor of the class. Pat Adam and Ron Dahmer were selected to represent the Sophomore Class as Queen and King candidates for the Nevamo that year; Ronnie Zaring and Margie Welch became candidates for the royalty of the Anti-Van Party, and Barbara Williams and Sandra Maxwell were Sophomore prospects for football queen that year. Barbara received the honor. When the returns were in from the Junior ticket play contest, the Sophomores were given third place. The following Sophomores were elected to probationary positions on the Honor Society; Joan Butler, Dixie Eason, Janet Elmore, Bill Snyder and Janet Wray. The first female mayor of the Youth Club, Janet Wray, was elected from the Sophomore Class. In the last month of the year the members of the class began to think of themselves as Juniors.

Bob Holland was elected to lead the class during the Junior year. Other officers were: Jim Haubein, Vice-President; Janet Elmore, Secretary; and Bob Neas, Treasurer. Mrs. Rex Cherry and Mr. Robert Brown served as class sponsors that year. Bob Neas and Barbara Etter were the Junior candidates for Anti-Van King and Queen. The Junior Class play "Strictly Formal" was one of Nevada's best dramatic productions. The Juniors won their own ticket sale by a very large per cent. Martha Miller and "Tucky" Kaup were the Junior representatives for Nevamo Queen and King. Janie Hand and Sandra Maxwell served as football queen candidates. The Junior Class presented three one-act plays that year. The "South Pacific" Prom, which the Juniors presented to the Seniors, was the high point of the Juniors' year. Janet Wray and Tom Todd were named to serve as Editor and Business Manager of the 1953 Nevamo. Bob Neas was elected as the President of the Student Body. Bruce Smith was given the honor of representing Nevada at the National Student Council Convention in Evanston, Illinois. The Junior year was over, and the members of the class looked forward to becoming the "big wheels" of the high school.

The Senior year will long be remembered. Patty Linder was named as the all-school yell leader, and Janie Hand was chosen as the assistant. Jerry Frizelle became President of the Senior Class of 1953. The other officers were: Jim Haubein, Vice-President; Janet Elmore, Secretary, and Kathy Hess, Treasurer. Miss Elizabeth Shaw and Mr. Lester Kesterson served as the Seniors' capable sponsors. Sandra Maxwell wore the crown as queen of the Anti-Van Party. Bill Mann was elected to lead the school's D. O. Club. The homecoming was held in honor of David Grubbs, who was seriously injured in an automobile wreck. Bob Holland and Barbara Etter became King and Queen of the 1953 Nevamo. The Senior Class was awarded first place in the Junior Class Play ticket sale. Una Killion and Jerry Webster held the positions of editors of the Crimson and Gray. Joan Butler and Bob Neas were selected as recipients of the D. A. R. Citizenship Awards. As the year came to a close, many of the Seniors realized these high school years will always be remembered as some of the best years of their lives.
